Domestic Travel Policy

Policy Scope

This policy is applicable for all employees of Bajaj Auto Ltd. & Bajaj Auto Technology Ltd. across levels and locations. This policy will act as a guideline for any work-related travel within India. The guidelines will include eligibility and the process of reimbursement.

Policy Guidelines

This policy supersedes all previous circulars / policies pertaining to domestic travel including any special approvals given from time to time by the management for all levels of employees. This policy will come into effect from 25th December 2025.

Inter-city travel corresponds to journeys which will be beyond 50 kms limits of the employee's work location. Local travel corresponds to journeys within a 50 kms radius of an employee's base location.

All employees should ensure that travel expenses are reasonable irrespective of their eligibility. Travel should be organized in the most effective way. Employees should plan their visits in advance wherever possible so that the opportunity to avail the most economical price is not missed.

1. Mode of Travel

Employee Level	Inter-City Conveyance	Local Conveyance
LX and above	• Flight - Economy Class • Train- Executive Class • Cab	• Company car • Cab (Cab by MMT / Uber & equivalent vendors)

Mode of travel: Qualitative/Administrative points

- We have changed our travel and expense management portal to MakeMyTrip (MMT). Hence, going forward, all travel bookings and reimbursements pertaining to Domestic Travel should be done via
 - MakeMyTrip portal (L4 & above)
 - MMT Helpdesk (for L5 & below)

For cities where Uber / equivalent vendors is/are available, employees are recommended to use this mode of transport. The employee will have to pay for the booking and later claim reimbursement on MMT under the relevant expense category – “Conveyance with Bills”.

- If Uber is unavailable in a city/town, eligible employees can book a cab through the MMT portal or contact the MMT helpdesk. Alternatively, the employees can also choose to book a taxi independently and later claim the expenses through MMT portal. For booking other modes of transport, such as flights, trains, buses, etc., employees can either use the MMT portal or book independently and then claim the expenses through MMT.
- If an EX employee needs to travel intercity where public transport is not available or convenient, they can book an individual cab with LX approval via MMT Portal.

In view of safety, all women employees will be eligible to book individual cabs in case their inter-city travel, due to exceptional circumstances, is after 7 PM or before 5.30 AM.

Booking offline vs through the MakeMyTrip portal:

Offline bookings, through the MMT helpdesk, will be allowed only in the below scenarios:

- New joiners
- Transfer cases
- International travel
- Group bookings (e.g., batch travel for GTEs, etc.)
- Travel & hotel booking for company guests
- L5 and Daily rated employees

Flight tickets through any source other than MMT can be booked only after CX/MX approval. Employees should plan their travel to ensure that the cost of tickets is minimum.

The approval matrix for flight tickets will be based on the cost of ticket as mentioned in below table:

Limits (in INR)	To be Approved by

One Way Flight Fares (inclusive of taxes)
< 8500	Self	Self
>8500 to <=13000	LX	Self

- Employees are advised to choose the lowest available rate, as shown on MMT Portal
- All expenses under the Domestic Travel Policy should be claimed through MMT
- All EX & above employees are advised to book flights via MMT. However, in certain exceptional cases where employee has to do the booking through the MMT helpdesk (offline booking), a travel request must be submitted to the MMT helpdesk according to the eligibility, and the trip will be booked by MMT Helpdesk Representative
- The required approvals (if any) should be provided to the MMT helpdesk prior to such booking
- If an employee books a flight outside the portal, they can claim reimbursement through MMT, however the claim will be processed only after approval from CX/MX

Domestic Travel Policy: FAQs

1.1 What kind of car can I avail for Inter-city and Intra-city travel?

The eligibility is as follows:

- i. Level CX/MX/LX : Innova or equivalent
- ii. Level EX: Sedans / Hatchbacks
 - Inter-City Travel: shared taxi - Hatchbacks/ equivalent
 - Local Travel: Hatchbacks/ equivalent
- iii. Level L4, SP, L5 & DR employees:
 - Inter-City Travel: Not eligible
 - Local Travel: Hatchbacks/ equivalent

Group Travel: If 2 or more than 2 employees are travelling together to the same destination and request for a car type higher than their eligibility, then MMT should book the higher car type only if the cost of higher car type is equal to or lower than eligible options for them

Illustrative Examples	Eligibility	In case of group travel
4 EXs Travelling together	2 hatchbacks	Can avail 1 sedan or 1 Innova, if the cost for 1 sedan or 1 Innova is equal to or less than 2 hatchbacks
2 LX GMs Travelling together	2 sedans	Can avail 1 Innova, if the cost of 1 Innova is equal to or less than 2 sedans
2 LX GMs and 2 EXs travelling together	2 sedan & 1 hatchback	Can avail 1 Innova, if the cost of 1 Innova is equal to or less than 1 sedan + 1 hatchback

1.2 Can a level EX employee avail a shared cab if travelling with a L4/SP/L5/Daily rated employee?

Yes, an EX employee can share a cab with a L4/SP/L5/Daily rated employee for inter-city travel if both the employees are travelling outstation for official purposes.

1.3 I am an ASM (Level EX) handling southern-most part of India near Kanyakumari. My base location is Chennai. My nearest airport from the command area is at either Tuticorin or Trivandrum. Both are approximately 2 hours away. Can I travel by taxi to the airport from my command area and claim the same?

Employee can avail a metered taxi/ola/uber/public taxi, if the distance between the command area & airport location is up to 50 kms. If the distance is more than 50 kms, it will be treated as inter-city travel and employee can avail a cab in line with the guideline on inter-city travel

1.4 Can employees book a cab for inter-city or local travel through MMT?

- Yes, employees can book cabs for inter-city or local travel through MMT as per their eligibility for inter-city and local travel.
- If the employees are unable to book cabs through MMT they can book cabs

by themselves or through a local vendor contracted by Regional Accountant or Support Service

2.1 Can I book a bus ticket for official travel by myself and not through MMT?

Yes, employees can book bus ticket by themselves. However, they have to submit a travel ticket as a proof in order to claim reimbursement for the same.

2.2 An EX is eligible for booking AC 1/AC 2 tier. However, in case of urgent booking can I book Tatkal or premium Tatkal?

The policy allows rail ticket bookings by level EX employees. If there is need for a tatkal or premium tatkal, employees can refer to the approval matrix for one way flight fares for seeking approval for such bookings, because both tatkal/premium tatkal tickets are costlier than general quota and similar to the flight tickets, the cost of premium tatkal tickets fluctuates proportional to the demand. Also, it is advisable that all employees book their travel well in advance to avoid any last-minute bookings.

3.1 For a 3-day tour, if an employee travels 400 km on 1st day, 100 km on 2nd day and 400 km on 3rd day such that the total travel for all 3 days is 900 km, can he/she claim fuel reimbursement for using his own car?

As per policy, a limit of 300 km/day is indicative hence the employee can claim fuel reimbursement as per the policy. However, employees are advised to avoid long journeys on a single day in view of safety.

3.2 During Local commute, how many kms is the employee eligible to claim reimbursement for?

Scenario 1: If employee is starting from residence, visiting the dealership on the way and then travelling to office from dealership?

Scenario 2: If the employee is travelling from residence, visiting the dealership and coming back to the residence?

Employees travel from their residence to the office daily and do not claim for such travel. In the above scenarios, as per existing practice, only the extra kilometers travelled by an employee apart from the normal KMs they would have travelled from their residence to office will be reimbursed.

The two scenarios can be addressed as follows:

Scenario 1:

Employee starts from the residence --> Travels to the dealership (10 kms away) --> Goes to office (5kms away from dealership) --> Returns to residence

Applying the rule: {[Distance travelled from Residence to Dealership + Distance travelled from Dealership to Office] – Distance travelled from Residence to Office}, reimbursement will be allowed for:

{[10+5]-15} = 0 kms.

Scenario 2

Employee starts from the residence --> Travels to the dealership (10 kms away--> returns to residence (employee does not travel to office)

Applying the rule: {[Travel from Residence to Dealership + Dealership to Office] –

Travel from Residence to Office}, reimbursement will be allowed for:
 $\{(10+0)-0\} = 10 \text{ km}$

3.3 Can I use my own car for inter-city travel? Can I avail this for a single person (myself) or it has to be shared?

Using own car by a single person for intercity travel should be avoided unless it is convenient in view of frequent local travel in the destination city for sales & marketing type of roles.

4. How do I calculate my travel time? When is the start and end of the travel time?

Travel period will be calculated from the time of start of journey to return to the city of posting

- Start of travel time: Departure time from residence (in the city of posting)
- End of Travel time: Arrival time at residence (in the city of posting)

5. What is the meaning of one-way travel fare?

Fares incurred for travel from the source city to the destination city will be considered as one way travel fare. This fare will also include the multiple stops between the source & destination city if no direct flight is available.

Illustrative example: Travel from Pune to Pantnagar via Delhi

Illustration	City Details	Flight Fare
Source city --> Stop 1	Pune --> Delhi	Rs 3500
Stop 1 --> Destination city	Delhi --> Pantnagar	Rs 2500
Source --> Destination (One way Flight fare)	Pune --> Pantnagar	Rs 6000

In this case the one-way flight fare is Rs 6000/-.

6.1 In the policy, approval matrix on the basis of one-way flight fare has been given for booking flight tickets. Does one-way flight fare include taxes for the approval matrix?

Yes, one way travel fare includes the applicable taxes

6.2 What will be the DA eligibility of the employees if they attend an event where all the expenses are borne by the company?
